Do you remember making a Den?

Was it an edifice of sofa cushions and sheets, a cardboard box castle or a tangled tepee of branches and bracken? Those small creative structures defined a private space, a quiet retreat - a place to meet with friends...

When we began to talk to people about their workplaces, we soon realised that we needed to locate our inner child and create a Den.

Den is a range of acoustic work areas created to make public spaces private. With eight different styles, numerous configurations and a full array of accessories, everyone has the opportunity to build their ideal Den.

In any open plan work area there are times when you need to find your own space. The environment we work in has to facilitate both the privacy needed to concentrate and the space needed to collaborate.

Making public spaces private...

The workplace has evolved as new technology has changed our working habits. Large open spaces with shared working areas create lively exciting environments, which cultivate greater collaboration. But what happens when you need a quiet area to reflect on a budget, write an essay, hold a meeting, or even talk on the phone?

When we began to talk to people, we soon realised that we needed to locate our inner child and create a Den.
